

HOOVER REPORT SEES BUSINESS IN LONG BOOM

Economic Progress of U. S.
Is Shown in Six-Year
Record

TELLS OF BUSINESS

Big Gains Over Long Periods
Indicate Permanent Prosperity

By Robert S. Thornburgh

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Exceeding all previous records in volume of production and consumption, and in the quantity of exports and imports, the fiscal year ending July 1 continued the economic progress which has characterized American business for six years, Secretary of Commerce Hoover declared today in his annual report.

"There has been very little unemployment except during a moderate recession near the end of the year, and the rate of real wages remained higher than anywhere else in the world or than at any other time in world history," Hoover said.

"The high prosperity of the year did not represent merely an upward swing in the business cycle, but was the result of a general, a permanent, progress."

"There were, to be sure, a few aspects of American business, which were less satisfactory, as, for example, the coal and textile industries, the relatively low price of cotton with its depressing effect upon the farmers of large regions of the south and some continued depression in agriculture of the mid-west, although improvement is taking place since the fiscal year in both sections."

Hoover declared that the volume of output of the manufacturing industry showed an appreciable gain even above the extremely high level of the fiscal year 1925-1926. The improvement was not the result of an exceptionally marked increase in any particular field, but was general in practically every group of industries. He called especial attention to the fact that production in the textile industries, which had long been relatively depressed, was naturally greater than in the preceding year.

Most conspicuous gains were in mineral production, freight transportation, output of electrical current, and sales of five and ten cent stores. The increase in the last two mentioned items is a part of a general upward trend more marked than in most economic phenomena, according to Hoover.

Wholesale prices were found to have been on a very steady level during the past five years, devoid of sharp upward movements due to boom psychology, and no sudden drops due to contraction in demand. The wholesale price index for 1926-1927 was 6% lower than for 1925-1926.

"The fact that the prices of commodities in general have fallen considerably for more than two years past does not at all point to a reduction of demand," Hoover explained. "It may be partly the result of the return of various European countries to the gold standard, and the regulation of the total amount of currency, including paper, circulating in the world. There is reason to believe also that the decline has been influenced by the constant expansion of production and lowerings of costs of commodities both in America and elsewhere."

"If there are more goods to be bought and sold without an increase in the volume of currency in circulation the tendency is toward lower prices. There can be no question that as a result of falling prices there has been a tendency to lower profits."

Hoover remarked that the situation of the farmer has an important bearing on the general trend of industry and commerce. While the value of animal products showed some gain, the lower prices of certain crops, notably of cotton, brought the total value of farm products in 1926-1927 to a figure somewhat less than the year before. According to estimates of the Department of Agriculture, the combined value of crops and animal products, deducting crops fed to animals, used for seed and waste, amounted to $12,080,000,000, about $590,000,000 less than 1925-1926.

Hoover said that the new construction undertaken in 1926-1927 amounted to about $7,000,000,000, constituting a powerful factor in maintaining general business activity and prosperity. Retail prices of materials for frame houses and the general index of wholesale prices for building materials declined in the year and were given as lower than at any time since 1922.

General improvement and greater efficiency in transportation industry was seen by the secretary. From the standpoint of banking and finance Hoover remarked that the year was one of sound but uneventful growth with ample money at low, stable rates.

GIRL, 4, DIES OF INJURIES WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Child Was A Daughter Of A Former Bristol
Woman

DRIVER IS ARRESTED

Auto Mudguard Nearly Torn Off by Accident;
Denies Speed

Injuries sustained when she was struck by an automobile yesterday morning while playing in front of her home on the Nottingham Way between Hamilton Square and Robbinsville, near Trenton, N. J., proved fatal last night to four-year-old Marjorie Appleton, daughter of Robert Appleton.

The child's mother was formerly Miss Anna Wisner, of Bristol, and lived here until about 15 years ago.

The child died at the Chambersburg Hospital, as Dr. John H. McCullough and Dr. Zandt, of Hamilton Square, were making heroic efforts to save her life. Death was due to a compound fracture of the skull.

Joseph B. Schenk, merchant, of 158 Academy street, Hightstown, driver of the automobile which struck the girl, was rearrested following her death last night, after he had been released under $500 bail when taken into custody by Officer Skirm, of the Hamilton Township Police, charged with atrocious assault and battery. County Detective Joseph Stevenson ordered him to appear at the office of Prosecutor Geraghty this morning to face a technical charge of manslaughter. So terrific was the force with which the automobile struck the girl, witnesses say, that several rivets were pulled out, separating the mudguard from the running board of the machine. Schenk told authorities when arrested that he was going at a rate not exceeding 25 miles an hour.

The child had been digging dirt with a toy shovel and bucket with Joe Charlton, a playmate, who lives opposite the Appleton homestead. The girl ran across the road toward her house, stepping from behind a wagonload of hay, witnesses say, and was struck by the left fender of the car.

The child will be buried in Bristol cemetery Monday afternoon following services at the home of the parents at two o'clock.

Ladies' Auxiliary Gives Newlyweds A Reception

About one hundred and fifty guests attended the affair.

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS

One of the early Christmas sales noted is that of J. Moffo & Sons, said merchants conducting the sale of foot-wear at 419 Mill street.

A reduction is made in prices for one week only, starting today and ending on Saturday, December 10th.

This store, which is headquarters for Dr. Scholl's foot appliances, has some splendid selections in felt slippers for women, and these would make nice Christmas gifts for the female members of the household. Shoes may be purchased for every member of the family at sums greatly below the usual price.

Another special service is to be had by Chevrolet owners at the establishment of Castor & Weed, 1626 Farragut avenue. This special valve grinding operation, No. 620, includes a number of check-ups and minor pieces of work for a minimum amount.

Those who are anxious to do some of their holiday shopping before the rush commences will find a number of games for the kiddies that will bring real pleasure during the long winter evenings at Straus' Sanitary Service, Mill street. The aggregation includes a fine variety.

Those tapestries which are so much in vogue at the present time await Bristolians at the Dorothy Shoppe, Mill street at Radcliffe.

This is not the only reason that folks hereabouts should visit this interesting display space. There are to be seen trays, baskets, flower holders, mechanical toys, books, dolls, etc. Then too, there are articles of pottery, as well as brass ware. The latter always look nice when placed in the proper place in a home.

Instruction is given free in the making of crystalline lamp-shades, and a variety of shapes are to be had there, and materials are varied.

BAKE SALE

Between the hours of 11 and three tomorrow, pies, cakes and other articles of baking will be sold by the Women's Auxiliary of St. James' Church in the parish house.

John Randolph Hurt While At His Work

An employee of Lucius Beebe and Son, Inc., John Randolph, was painfully injured shortly after commencing his work at said company's tannery here this morning, when his clothing became caught in a machine upon which he was working, throwing him with great force about the machine and quickly ripping each article of apparel from his body.

Randolph, who resides at 328 Roosevelt street, was engaged in oiling one of the machines, it being necessary to do this operation while the machine is in motion.

The man's clothing became caught in the shaft and he was hurled about the machine. His clothing was stripped from his body and tightly wrapped about the mechanism.

Randolph was taken to the Harriman Hospital, where he was given treatment. The extent of his injuries has not been learned as yet, but his right hip is injured, and he sustained abrasions of the back and chest.

FATHERS AND SONS AT ANNUAL BANQUET HERE

Tenth Annual Affair Held In The Presbyterian Church

SPEECHES ARE MADE

Fathers and sons, numbering 145, gathered about the tables in the banquet hall of the Presbyterian Church, here, last evening and together enjoyed the tasty menu, a varied program of entertainment, and fellowship in songs.

The program included several speakers, who told of the good derived from closer fellowship between father and son, and dwelt upon the subject from various angles.

Thomas S. Harper, who headed the committee in charge of this, the 10th annual father and son banquet, acted as toastmaster. The affair this year was sponsored by the men's Bible class. Dr. Charles Peet introduced Malcolm Orr, former member of the University of Pennsylvania football team, who talked about "The Value of Football to Boys," and likewise Harold Morley Sherman, associate editor of "Boys Life" and "The American Boy." Mr. Sherman, a resident of New York City, has also written a number of books for boys.

Russell B. Carty, president of the men's Bible class, and Warren Snyder, leader, addressed the company, the latter speaking on "The Organization and Growth of the Men's Bible Class."

Song sheets were much in evidence during the course of the meal, and all joined lustily in the singing with William Lefferts as leader. Dr. Turley presided at the piano.

A quartette composed of Messrs. Russell and Melvin Johnson, John Burtonwood and Norman Hetherington, gave selections, the group being accompanied by Charles Brodie.

The menu was served by the Ladies' Union of the Church, and consisted of the following: Baked ham, mashed potatoes, lima beans, cole slaw, celery, olives, coffee, rolls, home-made cake and ice cream.

WHYANO HELD BLAMELESS FOR KILLING BY AUTO

Coroner's Jury Says That The Accident Was Unavoidable

ON WRONG SIDE OF ST.

Whyano Does Not Testify At Suggestion of His Lawyer

Patrick MacDonald, 568 Bath street, came to his death by violent shock on November 5th, by being struck by an automobile driven by John Whyano, according to the verdict of the coroner's jury, which sat inquest here yesterday afternoon. The jury's verdict further read, "and we find further that the accident was unavoidable."

The coroner's jury, enpanelled by Coroner John J. Sweeney, of Bucks County, and his deputy, W. Furman Young, of Bristol, conducted the inquest in Borough Council's chamber. The jury was composed of James E. Mooney, foreman; William K. Fine, Leon Sleifer, John Lynn, Frank Loudenburgh and William Murray.

Officer Linford C. Jones, Bristol police department, was the first witness called. Officer Jones told the jury that he knew nothing about the accident; that he arrived at the scene after it had happened and did not know the circumstances surrounding it. He was not further questioned.

Vincent Lappan, 327 Jackson street, Bristol, was administered the oath and told the jury that he sat on the front seat with Whyano at the time of the accident. "We were going down Buckley street from Bath; another car passed us and at Pine street, a wheelbarrow suddenly came into view." Lappan told the jury that Whyano sounded his horn and that the driver made every effort to avoid striking MacDonald, who stepped out from behind the wheelbarrow, which was loaded with empty boxes. The witness said that Whyano's car was proceeding along the right-hand side of the street and that MacDonald with the wheelbarrow was on the same side coming toward the car. After swerving the car in an attempt to avoid hitting the man, the machine hit a pole and was damaged.

The next witness called was John Conca, 414 Lafayette street, Bristol. Conca told the coroner that he was lying down on the rear seat of the car, asleep. "We had been hunting and I was tired," said Conca. He testified that the impact of the car striking the pole woke him up and when he stepped out of the rear door of the machine he stepped upon MacDonald's body. He said the wheelbarrow, which MacDonald was alleged to have been wheeling over the street was about three feet from the curb and that MacDonald's body was ten feet from the wheelbarrow when he saw it.

John Whyano, Bath Road, Bristol Township, and driver of the death car, was called to the witness stand by Coroner Sweeney. Howard I. James, Whyano's attorney, objected to Whyano taking the stand. Coroner Sweeney told Whyano he was privileged to make any voluntary statement that he might desire. "You have an attorney here," said Coroner Sweeney to Whyano. Attorney James told Whyano he had not to make any statement. "There had been notice of a civil action pending against you," James said to Whyano. The witness left the stand without testifying.

Deputy Coroner W. Furman Young testified to having viewed the body at the Harriman Hospital, about 6.30 p. m. on the night of the accident. He said that in his opinion the ribs on the right side of MacDonald's body had been torn loose.

John Conca was recalled to the stand by Attorney James, and testified that Whyano and Mr. Howell took MacDonald to the hospital after the accident.

Dr. George T. Fox said that MacDonald was dead when he was admitted to the hospital and that in his opinion the cause of death was due to a violent external force. "There was a multiple fracture of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and perhaps the eighth ribs on the right side," said the doctor.

A NEW HAZARD

During the past year in particular have the news dispatches told frequently of accidents in which persons on terra firma have been injured or killed and private property damaged by falling airplanes. Instances where planes have crashed into buildings are not uncommon and there was recently reported an incident where a plane struck a wagon, killing one and injuring two of the occupants of the latter vehicle.

Such incidents, which are bound to become more frequent as the number of aircraft increases, raise the question as to what statutory legislation is needed to reinforce the common law and existing regulations for protection of the public against this new danger from the skies.

State legislatures are considering bills defining the rights and liabilities of aircraft operators and their responsibilities in case of personal or property damage. In some states commissions have been created to frame regulations to surround flying with new safeguards, principally for the benefit of passengers. An act of congress requires inspection of all airplanes and licensing of all pilots.

Along with protection for aerial passengers there must be ample protection for private property and non-flying inhabitants as they are endangered by the new mode of transport.

Some states are contemplating compulsory liability insurance for all airplane owners to prevent repetition of the situation existing on the motor highways where drivers who cause the most damage are least responsible financially.

WORTH WHILE "PATERNALISM"

It is of interest to several millions taxpayers who share the support of official Washington with the billionnaires to discover that the United States of America is engaged in business to an extent that makes its incorporation under a Delaware charter seem advisable. Moreover, it is one vast school for business, with special tutors located in strategic cities throughout the world and a number of professors continually moving about on government transportation orders.

Readers of either the business or general press are aware that the two movements that have absorbed most of the enthusiasm of the business world during the last five years have been simplification and standardization in production and economy in distribution. Both of these movements were started and are being cultivated in most of their details not by organizations of business men, but by the government.

Among the duties of the men in the foreign service is answering inquiries from American business men concerning the possibilities of obtaining a market for specific American commodities. The department of commerce spends more than $35,000,000 a year and it is but one of several federal departments interested in business.

ARMY FLIGHTS HELP
AVIATION, SAYS DAVISON

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Further flights such as the 29,000 mile air journey over South America participated in by 10 army airmen last winter "should be encouraged" in the interest of commercial and military aviation development, Assistant Secretary of War Davison recommends in his annual report issued today.
The Good Will flight, the report asserts, "was a pioneering air voyage, and the information obtained will prove invaluable for commercial aeronautics and the War Department."
"I believe that flights such as the Pan-American flight should be encouraged. Their value is many times greater than the expense involved."
Davison complains, however, that the newspaper publicity given the trip "was very meager in the United States" and suggests that "closer attention should be given to the question of publicity" in the future.
The army air corps is still suffering from a shortage of commissioned personnel, the report continues, "by reason of the fact that fewer officers of other branches have applied for transfer to the air corps than expected, although the War Department has made every effort to encourage such action. Furthermore, a substantial number of those officers who did apply for such transfer were unable to pass the physical examination and complete the course in flying training.

"The type of personnel most valuable to the air corps is the graduate from the United States Military Academy or of technical civil institutions of learning. Efforts are being made to interest this type in electing the air corps in the former case and in qualifying for examination in the latter case."
Davison refers briefly to housing, declaring that on recent inspection trips "I found that much of the air corps personnel is housed in temporary structures built during the war with an anticipated life at the time of construction not in excess of five years. That time has long since passed, and these structures, providing as they do very poor quarters at best, have been maintained as well as possible by the expenditure of sums for repairs out of all proportion to the value of the buildings."

HOW RICKARD FAILED TO GET MONEY IS REVEALED

By Davis J. Walsh
I. N. S. Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Just how Tex Rickard was alleged to have "sweated" Gene Tunney out of $115,000 by a midnight telephone call four days before the first Dempsey fight in Philadelphia was revealed today for the first time. The alleged revelation was aired by Bill McCabe, personal caretaker of the heavyweight champion, and it was offered in the way of evidence that purported to support Tunney's claim that Rickard wasn't disposed to treat him in the manner his position in life demanded.

The $115,000, it seems, represented a kick-back from the original contract Tunney is supposed to have held with Rickard, calling it is alleged, for 17 1/2 per cent. of the receipts. What the champion admits he actually received was a flat guarantee of $200,000, whereas McCabe claims Tunney would have got some $315,000 if he had insisted upon the promoter carrying out the terms of the contract to the letter.

That he did not so insist was due to the goodness of his heart or something, according to McCabe. For Rickard, keeping Tunney standing by a drafty telephone for upward of an hour, is said to have pleaded with the fighter that he, Rickard, was "in a bad hole" with the directors of the Madison Square Garden Corporation because they thought he was spending too much on the fight and that, therefore, it was up to Tunney to help him out. This, says McCabe, Tunney ultimately agreed to do.

"And," that gentleman added, "all this time Rickard had a virtual sell out. Is it any wonder that we want more assurance now from Rickard that he will produce a contender for a title bout next summer, under the terms of our contract?"

From Tunney himself have come frequent intimations that he was far from satisfied with the way Rickard took care of him in Philadelphia but this is the first that any member of the entourage has outlined details as to what might have been the cause of the champion's displeasure. The latter merely signified that the displeasure was all his, particularly around the time last winter when he was conferring with Humbert Fugazy in what proved to be a successful effort to force Rickard into the open.

The object of all this hocus pocus was to get a contract so favorable that the alleged Philadelphia incident would be wiped out of all memory and it might be said, offhand, that Tunney succeeded. Anyhow, he got a contract that might have netted him $1,200,000 for his bit, so called, at Chicago but the understanding later was that Tunney was persuaded to accept only a pitting million for all that trouble.

This naturally distressed him greatly and what with one thing and another, mostly both, he feels that all has not been Jacob. This, in any case, is McCabe's story. He says that Tunney has come out as an avowed proponent of the kick-in, having had an ample sufficiency of the kick-back.

BUX-MONT CHAMPIONSHIP TO BE SETTLED SUNDAY

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Dec. 2.—More than 5,000 football fans are expected to attend the game here next Sunday afternoon on the Doylestown Fair Association's chalked arena when the championship of the Bux-Mont Football League will be settled.

Royersford-Spring City, winners of the upper division of the league, will play the Yardley Bruins, winners of the lower division of the circuit. The kickoff will be at 2:15 and the game promises to be the biggest independent grid contest fought out in this section of the state over the coming week-end.

Led by Coach Mike Prostovich, former P. M. C. grid star, the Royersford-Spring City clan is confident of winning from Russ Willard's Yardley Bruins. During the year the Montgomery county eleven won five games, lost one and tied another in the league. The Yardley clan won five games, lost one and tied two. Doylestown was the only team to defeat Yardley this year, and Ambler won from Spring City-Royersford, 7 to 0 in the opening game of the season.

Both teams have an array of college, prep school and high school stars playing. The Montgomery county eleven has not only Coach Prostovich, who plays a backfield position, but Reichelderfer, former Bucknell gridders; Shaner, Long, Good, Boyer and Umstead, all fast and steady performers; Van Kannon, former Phoenixville High star; Kirk, of Spring City; Zawaski, of Pottstown High; Onyx, former Penn State gridders; Tiny Smith, of Swarthmore; Rosenberger and Shirey, of Pottstown High, and Mohr.

Bronson, a fine line plunger; Delhm, a former Ursinus College player; Reichelderfer; Ale and Punks, are backfield men of note on the Royersford-Spring City team.

Yardley has a great team this year and has won all but one game, scoring 169 points against their opponents' 26. The Montgomery county eleven scored 50 points against their opponents' 14. Yardley regulars include W. Johnson, Evans, Willars, Harrison, Woodruff, Duffield, Casey, Owen, Ketterer, E. Huddy and a number of other well known prep school and college players.
